From the Desk of Principal

Dear Students,

As we embark on a new semester, I want to take a moment to welcome each of you, whether you are just starting your engineering journey or are in the final stages of your academic pursuit.

Engineering education is a rigorous yet rewarding experience. While academic excellence is undoubtedly important, your growth as an engineer and an individual is shaped by much more than textbooks and exams. I encourage you to actively participate in sports, cultural activities, and other extracurricular engagements.

These activities not only foster teamwork, leadership, and time management but also provide a necessary break from academic pressures. They allow you to explore your passions, build lifelong friendships, and develop skills that are as vital in life as technical expertise.

To our first-year students: embrace this new chapter with an open mind. Use this time to discover your interests and talents.

To those in your intermediate years: continue building on the foundation you've established. Balance academics with activities that challenge and inspire you.

To our final-year students: this is your time to make the most of the remaining opportunities on campus. Lead by example and inspire your juniors to follow your path.

Remember, the lessons learned on the field often complement the knowledge gained in the classroom. Together, these experiences shape well-rounded engineers who are ready to face the challenges of the world.

Wishing you Happy Makar Sankranti & Basant Panchami.

Wishing you all a fulfilling and successful semester!

Warm regards,

Dr. Y. S. Choupare
